THE AUSTRALIAN MALL SERVICE AGAIN.

When our evening contemporary picks up points promisequously, as it were upon the wharf, it is apt to be imposed upon, as it was in the case of the nativity of Mr. Pearce, of the firm of John Elder & Co., whose name has been mentioned very frequenty of late in connection with the Australian mail service. It does not matter, however, what his pationality is-Scotch or English-it is plain that he is being put forward by the Pacific Mail Company, or that his boats have been chartered by it for a trip or two, in order that a claim for compensation might be trumped up against New Zealand. The opposition in Sydney is well understood. The honor and credit of the Government of New South Wales are pledged to the new service, and the reply of the Postmaster General to the deputation from the Chamber of Commerce gives very little room to doubt the intention of the Cabinet to stand by the joint contract with New Zealand entered into by their predecessors. /

It is absurd for our contemporary to speak of Mr. Pearce's disapproval of the mell-out by the Pacific Mail to wthe Oceanic Company. He was in a position to withdraw his steamships, without which the Pacific Mail Company was unable to perform the service. But he did not withdraw them, hence the inference is that he reseived his share, because it is notorious that the terms of his agreement with the Pacific Mail Company were that the subsidy was to be divide pro s.rta; and that each ship was to be credited with its own earnings. Is it credible, therefore, that Mr. Pearce abandoned all claim to the profitable freight and passenger trade between these Islands and San Francisco without adequate compensation, and yet continued to run his two vessels here regularly simply to carry the mail? We do not believe it, and no man with the least business knowledge would believe it. For this reason it is clearly impossible to base any claim to merit on the part of Mr. Pearce, upon his assumed disapproval of the business methods of the Pacific Mail Company, which discounted its chances of profit and loss for two years' operation, and pocketed the net amount at once. Mr. Pearce might not have thought it a favorable business transaction; but as his share would be two-thirds of the total, assuming that there was a fair division of the amount, we do not think his objection went to the length of refusing it. The fact that the Zealandia and Australia came here regularly and barred out the trade of the Islands is strong presumptive evidence that the transaction was mutually satisfactory, although Mr. Pearce may not have been consulted by the Pacific Mail Company, which, being the principal in Equally absurd is it for the "Bulletin" to speak of relief from the monopoly of the Oceanic Steamship Company. There has been no monopoly. There is no monopoly. There can be no monopoly of the high seas for commercial purposes except by superior energy and enterprise. Now, if our contemporary admits that the Oceanic Company displays greater direct to New London, Connecticut, to take energy and enterprise than its business charge of a parish there. His sister, Miss rivals, and has thereby captured the Miller accompanied him. ... hulk of the Islands trade, to that extent we are are prepared to agree with it. It is this superiority on its part that has excited so much bitterness and asperity of feeling in certain quarters, but it is about time that sober common sense views should assert themselves. The success of the Oceanic Steamship Company Mrs. Blizabeth Lavisch, ordered that means the business prosperity of Honoluln and the development of the industrial resources of the Kingdom. It means an accession of wealth, enterprise and skill which will go far towards building up the Kingdom. Is that not better than the building up of a foreign and unsympathetic rival, which has no property or vested interests in the Kingdom, and which only sends its ocean tramps to our harbor seeking? We think it is; and we believe and feel that outside a very limited circle, which for special reasons oppose the Oceanic Company, the bulk of the intelligence, wealth and standing of this Kingdom think as we do on the point.

If the Oceanic Company had attempted to use its position to impose "cinchfreights" upon our shippers; if it had discriminated against individuals or firms; if it had in short done any of the things which characterize "monopoly," pure and simple, as business men understand the term, something might be said against it. Having done none of these things, but on the contrary, having used its commanding position solely to promote the public good while proceeding a license, was remanded until the 2d. apon prudent business lines, it is most of contradiction, and we make it also in | to the Reformatory School.

PUBLIC HEALTH.

In another place in to-day's paper we publish the vital statistics for the month November last. The report is very satisfactory, the death rate being lower that it was in any corresponding month since 1881 inclusive. This no doubt is some measure owing to favorable .Hotel street that considerable credit must also be given to the Health Department for the sanitation. We understand full well that it is popular to censure the Board of long as the criticism is just; but that is here come hours in the life of every hat it is a waste of time to contend with self-satisfied ignorance, or shortighted scitishness, which opposes every effort of prevention or restriction of disease." These remarks fit the case of Honolulu pretty accurately. The Board of Health has invited the co-operation of intelligent citizens, as district visitors, n the work of city sanitation. As yet ve understand that volunteers are not coming forward with the alacrity of fore long. The idea of district visitors in connection with the Board of Health a novel one for Honolulu, and it may take some time to familiarize the public with it; but we are satisfied that in time its practical advantages will impress themselves upon the public mind, and
